Safety Training for facilities and maintenance Staff

Occupational Safety Services

We are offering a range of training sessions for facilities and maintenance staff. The dates and times for these courses, which will be run in Corby, have been specifically designed to keep them flexible and cost effective. The trainers for the courses are safety practitioners with many years of practical experience, ensuring the courses are relevant and in line with current legislation and best practice.

Work at height £40 per person
The majority of falls from height involve those working lower than 2 metres. This 3 hour course looks at the safe use of ladders, step ladders and simple access equipment. It discusses the requirements for the safe use of tower scaffolds and where other methods of work would be more appropriate.

Asbestos awareness £40 per person
Under the current legislation, this is a mandatory requirement for anyone who may encounter asbestos as part of their work. If your building was constructed before 2000, there is a strong likelihood you have asbestos, so this course is a must!

Powered hand tools £40 per person
For those using strimmers, drills or similar hand held equipment, there are numerous associated safety and health hazards. This half day course covers the main hazards and shows staff how to assess and manage the risks.

Manual handling £40 per person
Manual handling is the largest cause of lost time working injury. A half day course in which students look at the causes of injury and the factors associated with risk. They then learn how to manage them dynamically.

PAT Testing £100 per person
A 1 day course based around the IEE code of practice. After this course, staff will be able to do their own PAT testing using commonly available equipment which can be hired or alternatively purchased for as little as £300.

Fire safety £40 per person
A 3 hour course looking at the fundamentals of fire prevention, mitigation measures and different evacuation techniques.

Fire risk assessment £100 per person
A one day course, aimed at those carrying out simple fire risk assessments for the buildings for which they are responsible. Aimed at using widely available forms and standards, the aim is to gain an understanding of the fundamentals of fire safety and satisfying legal obligations.
